Oil Firms Sued For $67 Million By Government

U.S. Says It was Overcharged On Petroleum Shipments

NEW YORK (AP)—Four major American oil companies and six subsidiaries are being sued for 67 million dollars by the government, which says it — and the U. S. taxpayers — were overcharged on foreign aid oil shipments to Europe.

In the latest step in a joint congressional-administration war on an alleged international oil cartel, three separate civil suits were filed here yesterday in Federal Court.

Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery, suits as "a test of whether the defendants, having control over the supply of Middle East crude oil shipped to countries participating in the foreign aid program, can block the efforts of the government agencies to protect government funds committed to European recovery and defense."

The suits cover Middle Eastern oil deliveries by the firms to Marshall Plan countries in Europe between May, 1949, and May, 1952. McGranery accused the major companies of flouting federal laws by using their subsidiaries to maintain a two-price system — charging the responsible government agencies more than other customers.

He said the companies violated federal laws designed to hold crude oil prices at reasonable levels while the free world rearm.

Financing of Middle Eastern oil for European countries by the Mutual Security Administration MSA was stopped in June after the oil firms reportedly refused to make refunds on purchases made during the three years covered in the suits, MSA and its predecessor, the Economic Co-operation Administration, are the agencies involved.

Companies named in the three suits and damages asked of them are:

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and its wholly owned subsidiary, Esso Export Corp., both of New York—a total of $31,795,619.

Standard Oil Company of California, the Texas Company of New York and their jointly owned subsidiaries: Bahrain Petroleum Company, Ltd., a Canadian Corporation; California-Texas Oil Company, Limited; Caltex Oceanic Ltd., and Mid-East Crude Sales Company, all incorporated in the Bahamas but with home offices in New York—$21,427,722.

Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, Inc., of New York and its wholly owned subsidiary, the Socony-Vacuum Overseas Supply Company, Inc., of Fort Lee, N. J.—$14,118,498.

The government also asked for "such additional sums as may be due for alleged overcharges" after May, 1952, plus interest and costs. Esso, in a statement issued last night, said all its export sales have always been at competitive prices. "These prices are well known and have not been questioned or protested by any of the countries or customers involved," Esso said, and added:

"Because of the vital importance of the principle involved—free competition in world markets—Esso Export emphasizes that it will defend its positions as strongly as it can."

Ike Holds Big Edge In Straw Vote Here

Picking up an early lead in the poll, Dwight D. Eisenhower has gained a solid head start in the straw vote being conducted among Salem News readers.

Readers marking their choice of the presidential candidates have given Eisenhower a total of 96 votes to 16 for Stevenson. If the trend is indicative, Salem voters will support Ike for president when the election is held Nov. 4.

The poll, taken by means of a straw vote ballot printed in the paper, will continue for a while to sound out the sentiments of the public in advance of the November election.

U.S. Downs 26 Reds, Lose Only 1 During August

Air Force Jubilant; Reds Upset At Big Raid On N. Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force jubilantly announced today that in the first 22 days of August, U. N. Sabre jet pilots shot down 26 Russian-built jets in aerial battles over North Korea in which only one Allied plane was downed.

An Air Force spokesman said the record "represents what is probably the most clean-cut victory of the Korean War. . . . The nearest thing I find to it is for the entire month of last June, when 22 MIGs were shot down and only one Sabre jet was shot down."

The new total followed today's report that Sabre pilots shot down three MIGs the past week without losing a single plane. Six Communist jets were damaged, making a total of 29 MIGs crippled during August.

The Air Force said, however, two Sabres and four other U. N. planes failed to return from missions the past week. Two propeller-driven planes were downed by anti-aircraft fire. Loss of the others was unexplained. This made a total of 17 U. N. planes lost during August, but only one in air combat.

The swift Sabres kept Communist fighters from interfering with U. N. air strikes against Red stockpiles all along the front Friday. The bomb raids were part of a stepped-up campaign, disclosed on this week by the chief of the Far East Naval Forces, to hit the Reds where it hurt most.

The North Korean radio reacted violently Friday to the intensified Allied aerial effort. A Pyongyang broadcast, heard in Tokyo, called for an immediate halt to what was called "murderous American bombing of civilians."

The U. S. Air Force said, however, civilians were urged with leaflets to evacuate target areas prior to the two big Allied raids last Thursday and Friday.

The broadcast called Gen. Mark Clark "the American executioner" and the Far East Air Forces "Truman's butchers."

Far East Air Forces announced Allied pilots have shot down 1,318 Red planes during the war, against 753 losses. The figures do not include Navy carrier-based planes.

On the ground, U. N. soldiers drove back seven Red probes Friday and today — including three at Allied-held Bunker Hill, the scene of bloody fighting a week ago.

Truckers Union Gets Wage Boost

CLEVELAND (AP)—The A. F. of L. Teamsters Union and representatives of 500 trucking companies in Ohio late yesterday reached agreement on a precedent-setting three-year contract that provides for eventual standardization of wage rates and working conditions in 16 Ohio cities with the higher Cleveland pay scale.

The new agreement, negotiated and signed in Columbus, covers 15,000 intra-city truck drivers, checkers and dock workers in 17 cities including 5,000 members of Truck Drivers Local 407 here.

It provides a wage increase of 19 cents an hour, retroactive to June 1, the first year and additional increases of 7½ cents an hour in both the second and third year plus cost-of-living adjustments that may be required under an escalator clause.

During the three-year period, wages of workers in 16 cities will be raised to the level of the higher Cleveland pay scale. The basic hourly wage scale current in the Cleveland area is truck drivers $1.62, tractor-trailer drivers $1.70, dockworkers $1.49 and checkers $1.54.

Greek Coalition Government Gets Confidence Vote

Push New Electoral Law Banning Troops, Women From Voting

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Backed by a narrow-margin vote of confidence, the coalition government of Premier Nicholas Plastiras worked up its plans today to push through a new electoral law which would bar women and members of the armed forces from voting.

Such a law would be a heavy blow to the opposition Greek Rally Party of Field Marshal Alexander Papagos, who has been demanding early national elections. Papagos, a popular war hero, has considerable support among the armed forces.

The former army commander in chief repeated today his demands that the government resign, despite the 127-118 vote of confidence it won in parliament yesterday. Papagos maintained that this slim margin fell short of an absolute majority in Greece's 258-man parliament, and that no government could push through the legislation needed to cure the country's economic ills on such a shaky foundation.

The opposition newspaper Kathimerini commented editorially that the coalition government of Plastiras and his deputy, Sophocles Venizelos, is trying to remain in power until it gets its new voting law passed.

Even the government seems desirous of holding new Greek elections in the hope of increasing its majority in parliament. The pro-government newspaper Eleftheria prominently headlined a charge made by Venizelos last night that Papagos' party "wants to become a regime, not a party."

But Eleftheria admitted one possible solution to the present impasse would be the calling of new elections despite the government's victory.

The victory climaxed five days of heated, bitter debate on the nation's economic, political and military problems. It was won despite an informal but highly controversial remark by U. S. Ambassador John Peurifoy that a new administration might help the nation.

Peurifoy suggested Wednesday in a talk to Greek newsmen that new national elections might be beneficial. He said a new administration would be in a better position to deal with the nation's economic problems.

Elliniki Imera, an organ of Deputy Premier Sophocles Venizelos' Liberal party, demanded in a front-page editorial yesterday that Peurifoy be recalled for interfering in Greek political affairs.

Rhodes Raps State-Paid Ferguson Trips

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Mayor James A. Rhodes last night accused State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson of traveling too much at state expense.

Speaking over a 14-station radio network, the Columbus mayor said Ferguson not only traveled widely at state expense but failed to follow rules governing expense accounts.

Rhodes, a Republican, will oppose Ferguson in the auditor's race in November.

He cited trips by Ferguson in state owned cars to Florida, Atlantic City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Seattle, Quebec, San Antonio and other points. "He received as high as $3,800 at one time for reimbursements for past expenses for these and similar trips," Rhodes charged.

He said Ferguson had failed to support his expense accounts with receipts as required, even "when he has been reimbursed for $12 a night hotel rooms."

Ferguson uses "horse and buggy methods" in the auditor's office, Rhodes said, "spends too much time traveling, saddles his office with a score or more relatives and in-laws and fails to measure up to the dignity and responsibilities of this important office."

Convicts Drink Alcohol, 3 Die

6 Ohio Prisoners Are Seriously Ill

LONDON, O. (AP)—Laquer thinner "hooch" bought with packages of cigarettes killed three London Prison Farm inmates Friday.

Details of the prison farm racket was revealed as six other inmates were fighting effects of the deadly drink. Prison officials say they have a confession from the man who peddled the concoction.

Dead are Walter Wade, 36, Allen County, serving 10-25 years for armed robbery; O. B. Ingram, 31, Wyandot County, serving 1-20 years for stabbing, and Stanley Holladay, 27, Butler County, serving 1 - 20 years for auto theft.

The state division of corrections investigated and is preparing a report for Judge John H. Lamneck, state welfare director.

Maury Koblentz, assistant commissioner of the corrections division, said John Johnson, 50, Hamilton County, serving a life sentence for first degree murder, admitted peddling the "hooch."

Johnson is in a detention cell and probably will be transferred back to Ohio Penitentiary, Koblentz said. Johnson was convicted in 1940 and transferred to the prison farm in July, 1950.

Koblentz said Johnson has demonstrated "He is not amenable to the type of discipline at the prison farm."

"We don't know what action will be taken with Johnson, in connection with the death of the three men, because he is doing life now," Koblentz said. He added that as far as he knows no other inmates were involved in the racket.

All the victims were housed in the same dormitory. Johnson, an elevator operator, was able to get his hands on the laquer thinner in the prison farm's brush and soap factory.

The thinner is high in wood alcohol content.

Victor J. Monte, assistant to Warden W. F. Amrine, said Johnson would sell one-half glass of the thinner for five packs of cigarettes. The thinner was flavored with citronella to kill its taste.

A half-glass of thinner, if drunk within a short time, would "easily kill a man," Monte said. Apparently those who survived did not drink all their concoction, he added.

Gas Pipeline To Be Built In County

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission Friday authorized the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Columbus, to build 33 miles of pipeline to replace 42 miles of existing line in Crawford, Wyandot and Seneca counties.

It also authorized the company to build four miles in Richland County to replace about 4.7 miles of present line in Richland and Crawford Counties. Cost of both projects was estimated at $1,492,500.

The commission gave Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia permission to build 21 miles of pipeline in Columbiana and Stark Counties and to retire two compressor units in Belmont County and another unit in Columbiana County.

Fine Weather Continues For Ohio State Fair At Columbus

Columbus, O. (AP)—The weatherman continued to smile on the Ohio State Fair today, promising a new attendance record would be set before the exposition closes next Friday.

A combination of pleasant weather plus free tickets brought yesterday's opening day attendance to 65,000. This was 49,000 higher than the same day last year but still 35,000 short of predictions.

Most of yesterday's fair-goers were children, as "youth day" took the spotlight. The kids got the free tickets.

They saw an hour-long parade on the race track. It was the first time such a parade had been held. Howard S. Foust, fair manager said the parade will become a yearly feature.

Confer On Tideland Oil Rights

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson faced a sharp quizzing today from Texas Gov. Allan Shivers on whether he favors federal or state control of the nation's rich off-shore oil deposits.

Shivers was due here for a conference with the Democratic presidential nominee at 10 a.m. EST. Their talk could have heavy political repercussions in Texas and other states fighting for control of their so-called tidelands oil resources.

Stevenson returned to his headquarters here last night from a three-day rest in the seclusion of a friend's home in Minocqua, Wis. "I feel fine," he told reporters. And then he quipped: "I am partially restored to health. I got a lot of sun and a lot of rest."

GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower has said he would favor legislation by Congress restoring full control of the tidelands oil deposits to the states.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the federal government holds "paramount interest" in the off-shore deposits.

But the states rights proponents have continued to fight against the decision — seeking undisputed state control through legislation. Such legislation has been passed by Congress twice, and twice it has been vetoed by President Truman.

Photographer Sues GOP For $250,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—A news cameraman struck in a scuffle on the floor of the GOP convention in Chicago is suing the Republican National Committee for $250,000.

Stanley Tretick of United Press Newspictures complained he suffered physical pain and "mental suffering" because he was humiliated before a television audience of 70 million who witnessed the incident.

The complaint said Tretick was seized by a sergeant-at-arms while trying to photograph a delegate who had collapsed, and then was struck two or more blows by Chicago policemen and ejected from the hall despite credentials permitting him to be there.

The complaint, filed in District Court here yesterday, said the committee was responsible because the attack was made to (1) carry out temporary Chairman Walter S. Hallahan's order to clear the aisles, and (2) to prevent "unfavorable publicity"—a picture of an unconscious delegate.

Bakersfield Hit By 2nd Tremor Within 32 Days

Buildings Leveled; Los Angeles Also Rocked By Quake

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A major earthquake jarred this city Friday, killing two persons, injuring 32 and shattering buildings. Another sharp jolt rocked Los Angeles early today, but was not even felt here.

Yesterday's temblor was the second big one in 32 days to hit Bakersfield. The 10-second quake cascaded masonry and glass into the streets. Some highways buckled. Walls fell, roofs collapsed and parapets crumbled.

Dust clouds boiled up, blotting out the sun. Damage is expected to run into the millions of dollars.

On the other hand, today's shock in Los Angeles, 125 miles south of here, apparently caused no damage, although it was strong enough to awaken hundreds of residents. The shock started at 3:10 a. m., Pacific Daylight Time.

While Bakersfield's business districts were heavily damaged, residential sections, for the most part, escaped unscathed.

Police patrolled blocked off downtown sections through the night to prevent looting of stores damaged by the two major quakes and dozens of aftershocks.

Caught Under Roof

The dead are Mrs. Edna Ledbetter, 26, of nearby McFarland, caught under the collapsing roof of a store in which she was shopping and George Patman Cozby, 67, a Southern Pacific Railroad engineer of Bakersfield. He was trapped in the wreckage of the Kern County Equipment Company.

More than 100 city blocks in the business districts of Bakersfield and East Bakersfield, hardest hit by the quake, were roped off. Hardly a business block in the entire city of 50,000 population escaped damage.

Declared Disaster Area

City Manager C. Leland Gunn declared Bakersfield a disaster area and proclaimed a state of emergency. The County Board of Supervisors put all county departments on an emergency basis and arranged for county offices to be transferred from the courthouse, already damaged in the July 21 quake, to tents on a nearby parking lot.

Brick and metal cornices toppled from many business buildings, and the walls of others crashed down into the streets or onto nearby structures.

At least four churches, some of them already damaged in the July quake, suffered from yesterday's shock. At least one schoolhouse was so badly damaged the school board ordered it closed. The board will make a survey of possible damage to other school buildings before the opening of classes Sept. 8.

Unlike last month's quake, near-by communities reported no casualties or serious damage from yesterday's temblor. The July shock caused 11 deaths at Tehachapi, 40 miles from here, and three elsewhere, with total damage throughout.

Salem Girl, Husband To Leave For Africa Mission Aug. 29

Eighteen big barrels of necessities, many other boxes, and trunks, a new portable organ, refrigerator and a washing machine are among the luggage items packed by Mr.

and Mrs. Lawrence Ehinger, and Mr. Ehinger's six-year-old son, Larry, for their trek to Kivimba, Urundi section, Belgium Congo in Africa.

Mrs. Ehinger, the former Delores Stratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stratton of Buckeye Ave., and her husband graduated this year from Cleveland Bible College and both the Ehingers are trained as child evangelists.

They will serve in the missionary compound at Kivimba for five years. Mr. Lawrence, who is an evangelist, flannelgraph artist and teacher, will also operate the dynamo at the compound to generate electricity for the use of homes, hospital and industry of the mission station.

The trip to Africa will take six weeks by freighter and they sail Aug. 29 from New York harbor on the "African Rainbow." They will go by way of Cape Horn, landing at Bare-Se-Salaam and will travel 125 miles inland to Kivimba.

The elevation there is 5,000 feet and they will only be 200 miles from the equator. The climate is moderate. Antelope will be their chief meat and due to the climate they can have a variety of garden produce and citrus fruits.

The Ehingers are taking two cameras, one to make colored slides and the other for regular photography. They will take pictures of their trip and more pictures of their new home and location.

The mission compound has been in operation for 12 years. Two doctors and other evangelists and teachers make up the staff.

Besides teaching the gospel, the missionaries teach the natives improved agriculture, construction and other methods of helpful living. Mr. and Mrs. Ehinger will make their own furniture there of native wood because their luggage quota did not include those items.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Live Under Stress, Strain

Stress, the dictionary tells us, is "strain, pressure, especially force exerted upon a body that tends to strain or deform its shape." And human bodies, like all other bodies, are subject to stress.

As a matter of fact, human bodies seem to be particularly susceptible to stress. General George C. Marshall once told the Overseas Press Club that, as Secretary of State, one of his greatest problems had been worrying about the ulcers that simultaneously afflicted Walter Bedell Smith in Moscow and Robert Lovett and Dean Acheson in Washington. The general himself was ill during some of the most important periods of his career and a doctor had to accompany him on one of his missions.

Other prominent figures have similarly suffered from stress. The list is a long one: Marshall's predecessors, Hull, Stettinius and Byrnes; James Forrestal; Clement Atlee and the late Ernest Bevin in England; also Russia's Vichinsky and Molotov suffer from ulcers and insomnia respectively, testifying that there is no Soviet superman. They are human too.

These and many other cases are cited by a New York physician, Dr. Arnold A. Hutschnecker, in a helpful book, The Will To Live. "Stress does two things," Dr. Hutschnecker writes. "It sustains tension and it spends energy. We must therefore answer it with two kinds of measures. We must find ways to break tension. We must learn how to conserve and replenish energy."

Of course, the effects of stress are not limited to famous figures on the national and world scene. Each of us is subject to it, and the housewife, the stenographer, the business man, the factory hand can be made just as ill by the stress under which they live as any general or diplomat.

But we can learn from some well known people how to break tension. Dr. Hutschnecker points out that, during the worst periods of World War II, Churchill would undress completely and go to bed even if only ten minutes was all the time he could spare for a rest. Roosevelt joked with his circle, put some time in on his stamp collection, and read detective stories to break stress. The greatest of our Presidents, Abraham Lincoln, would take time out to pray.

PRAYER is one of the best ways to relieve tension. I have written and talked for years on this subject and have collected thousands of experiences of people in all walks of life who have discovered that in moments of stress, taking time out to pray and ask for guidance and receive the peace of God offers the best possible relief from tension.

We can learn to conserve and replenish our physical energy, as Dr. Hutschnecker points out, by proper diet and sufficient sleep. And we can learn how to conserve and replenish our spiritual energy by going to the greatest storehouse of energy the world has ever known, the Bible. And spiritual energy helps to build up emotional and physical energy.

Take down your copy now. Thumb through it and let it fall open at any page. Read a few passages and you will find a restorative no money can buy, no drugstore can concoct. Follow the words of the great 23rd Psalm which begins, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want" and go on to say that "He restoreth my soul." Then turn to the Sermon on the Mount where you will find the words on which you can build a faith that will not only sustain you under stress but give you a never-failing spring of new confidence and energy.

MODERN psychiatric science is only beginning to discover a truth that religion has known since the dawn of time. People react under stress in many ways; some react in terms of physical ailments such as ulcers, heart disease, allergies and the like. But those who possess a means of throwing off tension and of tapping new sources of energy can lessen or even avoid the consequences of stress.

Your religion offers you a way to live under the stress and strain of the problems you must face. It gives you a technique of prayer which releases you from tension and a practical living faith that continually replenishes your energy.

Learn to live your religion and you will learn how to live under stress.

Rev. Owen W. Glassburn

Rev. Glassburn To Become Friends Circuit Evangelist

Upon completing three years as pastor of Beloit Friends Church, Rev. Owen W. Glassburn is being asked to fill an evangelistic position to be inaugurated by Ohio Yearly Meeting of the Friends Church, Sept. 1.

His new work will be that of an evangelist traveling among the 80 churches of the Yearly Meeting at the request of the churches, and in these contacts he will represent the following three interests of Ohio Yearly Meeting: Cleveland Bible College, Board of Christian Education and Christian Endeavor Union.

This work, requiring full time service, makes it necessary for the Glassburn family to leave the pastorate at Beloit. With their three daughters, Audrey, Marie and Becky, Rev. and Mrs. Glassburn will make their home at Damascus where he will maintain an office upstairs in the Ohio Friends Book Concern Building. The final details and approval of this new position will be acted upon at the annual sessions of Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends to be held in Damascus, Aug. 26-31.

Sunday, the 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services will terminate his present status.

Rev. Odell J. Powell of Draper, N. C., will be his successor. The Powell family will move into the parsonage the first week in September.

Blessed Assurance

A minister's daughter writes a tune

The young woman knocked on a door in Brooklyn. She was in her early 30s but ever since she was a small girl, Phoebe Palmer had played the organ. And her father, noted Evangelist Dr. Walter C. Palmer, encouraged her to write music. That's why she went over to the modest Brooklyn home that day in 1873. She had written a piece of music and she wanted some words for it.

"Bless your dear soul," the little woman in her early 50s said as she opened the door. In her youth Miss Palmer's host had written some of the biggest song hits in their day. But in 1864 Composer William Bradbury suggested that her talent should be a blessing to the world if she would write songs for the church. Then and there, when she was 44 years old, the little poetess dictated her first hymn. In a few months the world was singing "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour," "Rescue the Perishing," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and scores of others from her pen and she never wrote another secular song. Nor did she ever write a hymn-poem without first kneeling in prayer. She prayed, too, that her church songs would save a million souls. That's a lot of souls, but that little woman wrote a lot of songs for the church—nearly 900—before she died in 1915.

"Bless your dear soul," the little woman said to Phoebe Palmer, "let me hear your music." So Miss Palmer played her composition on the parlor organ. Looking around, she saw the little woman kneeling in prayer so she softly played her music again. She was playing her tune a third time when the little woman stopped her and told her to take down some verses while she dictated. The hymn-books list the composer of "Blessed Assurance" as "Mrs. J. F. Knapp"—that's because Phoebe Palmer married Joseph Fairfield Knapp, founder of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The author of the words is listed as "Fanny J. Crosby"—that's because Miss Palmer's host was none other than the famous hymn-writer.

When Fanny Crosby asked Phoebe Palmer to write while she dictated, the young woman understood. She knew that "Aunt Fanny" could not write very well. She knew that in 1820, when she was just 6 weeks old, a cold had settled in her eyes and a country doctor had recommended a mustard poultice. So, while blind little "Aunt Fanny" Crosby dictated, Phoebe Palmer took down these words to go with her music . . .

Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
O, what a fore-taste of glory divine!
Heir of salvation, purchase of God,
Born of His Spirit, washed in His blood

Perfect submission, perfect delight,
Visions of rapture now burst on my sight;
Angels descending, bring from above
Echoes of mercy, whispers of love.

Perfect submission, all is at rest,
I in my Saviour am happy and blest;
Watching and waiting, looking above,
Filled with His goodness, lost in His love.

Chorus:
This is my story, this is my song,
Praising my Saviour all the day long;
This is my story, this is my song,
Praising my Saviour all the day long.

Red Guerrilla Raids In Japan Predicted

TOKYO (U)—An authoritative Japanese expert on Communist tactics predicted today the Reds will launch a series of guerrilla terror raids this fall, designed to discredit America and lure more Japanese to the Red camp.

He expressed conviction that such a plan is being worked out in Moscow during current strategy talks with a Chinese Communist delegation as part of the Rex "hate America" campaign. The expert, who cannot be identified because of his high position, said the Reds hope their guerrilla security forces will be called in to help. The Reds then plan to charge that American troops are suppressing the Japanese people.

The Reds also plan to exploit resentment at the continued presence of foreign troops in Japan.

The Japanese Communists will use the dissatisfied left-wing Korean minority in Japan to stage terror raids on police posts, government offices and U. S. troop installations, the expert declared. Attacks on police posts have already started on a tentative scale.

WATCH FOR HEARING GLASSES TO BE HELD SOON!

There is a more modern way of doing this!

In fact as man continues his quest for the best gadgets, there is a more modern way of doing almost everything.

But beware! Iest you lose sight of the old discoveries that will never become obsolete.

For instance, there is no more modern way to peace and happiness than the Christianity our ancestors treasured before us.

And when you need a text-book for living, there is no book-of-the-month to equal the Bible your Mother gave you.

And when it comes to gaining spiritual insight and moral strength, there will never be any streamlined substitute for the Church down the street.

You see, in spiritual discovery, man didn't have to await modern science. Long ago God gave us Truth and Power. That is why the age-old faith the Church teaches is THE LATEST MODEL FOR LIVING.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Russian secrecy being what it is, no one will know why the Communist party is having a full-dress conference next October.

But it's safe to guess that top members of the party will know. It's an equally safe guess they will know that Stalin has designated his successor.

Josif Vissarionovich Dzhugashvili was born in 1879. At the age of 73, he is not as old as Winston Churchill, who was born in 1874, but there is no evidence he is as hale and hearty as Churchill was at 73, either.

This man who took the name "Stalin" as part of his campaign to wield power over other human beings is not as indestructible as the steel he chose to symbolize. Sooner rather than later the dictatorship he created with the counter-revolution which robbed Russia of the satisfaction of overthrowing tyranny must face the test of succession.

No dictatorship ever sustained the blow of the dictator's death without serious injury. The Communist dictatorship of Russia and the Communist conspiracy to rule the world ultimately from the Kremlin will be no exception.

With Stalin gone, the Communist conspiracy never can be the same.

And Stalin is going.

Wrong Tradition

Though it would appear that the Swedes have taken offense over a minor matter in the Margaret Truman affair, the matter was minor only from an American point of view.

If Miss Truman's Secret Service bodyguards, wearing weapons, pushed around some natives of Sweden in a manner suggestive of gangster behavior, they were dead wrong.

Swedish policemen do not wear weapons. They don't get pushy. In order to keep this thing in perspective, imagine the high-voltage howrwh which would break out if a Swedish VIP were to be accompanied to this country by a trio of armed bodyguards who pushed around some photographers from, say, the Chicago Tribune, which hates "them furniers" anyway.

Let it be granted for the sake of argument that Miss Truman's bodyguards on this visit were behaving in the American tradition. That is the wrong tradition to be behaving in when in Sweden—or in Rome.

That has become our characteristic attitude—that we expect the whole world to adopt our behavior patterns, at the expense of being criticized for backwardness. It's a chinch Miss Truman, who has turned out to be a topnotch good-will ambassador, is embarrassed by the whole affair.

The Donkey And The Cuckoos

Sometimes between now and that momentous first Tuesday in November, the position of Americans for Democratic Action in the Stevenson campaign will have to be cleared up.

Here is an organization so important to the governor of Illinois that he names Wilson Wyatt, one of its founders, as his campaign manager. The governor has been at no pains to conceal the fact he is running for President as an advocate of the policies of an organization which has no more in common with the hard core of the Democratic party than it has with the Republican party.

ADA calls itself "a national political organization." But it has no candidates on the ballot. It is not represented in Congress. It hold a convention, but it nominates no one. Instead, it works like the proverbial cuckoo, which lays its eggs in the nests of strangers.

All the Democrats had left Chicago before they learned that Stevenson was a cuckoo egg hatched out in a donkey nest by the heat the donkeys generated with their frenzied arguments over matters which apparently were of no real consequence at all.

The ADA knew what it was doing all the time. Did the Democrats?

Harry Truman And Wife

Official flesh began to creep within minutes after President Truman's plan to travel abroad after next January was announced.

There was good reason for official uncertainty. With the possible exception of Theodore Roosevelt's travels, official minds had no precedent for such a situation, and nothing upsets them like a lack of precedent.

Unofficial minds, on the other hand, seem to be holding up staunchly under the impact of this interesting news. They can conjure up no reason why a private citizen of the United States should create any special problem on a grand tour. Millions of them have done it.

Indeed, it is difficult offhand to think of a pair of citizens who could fill the role of Yankees abroad any better than Harry and Bess Truman. When they go back to being unofficial personages, they will be relieved of all political rancor.

The oonl couple who might have done a better job of filling the role were Calvin and Grace Coolidge—two citizens of relatively humble origin who never made any pretension of being anything else, even while living in the executive mansion.

Leftist Tactics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Try To Pin Ike Down On Primary Nominees

WASHINGTON

Having nearly wrecked the Democratic party in the South by means of the "loyalty pledge" device, the "left wingers" now are attempting to get the Republican nominee, General Eisenhower, to put himself on record as refusing to support certain nominees for the Senate and House in the Republican primaries who happen to hold different views from his own on public questions.

The so-called "loyalty" rule which was adopted at the Democratic National convention at the behest of the "left wingers" required the delegates—even before the nominees were selected for President and Vice President—to affirm that they would support the ticket. But in the present case of a Republican senator, spokesmen in the press for the "left wing" elements have been calling on General Eisenhower to say in advance of the Republican primary in Wisconsin that he will not support whoever is nominated but only the nominee who conforms to his views. For a presidential nominee, when in a given state, to refuse to ask for the election of the Republican ticket is to be guilty of disloyalty to a party-primary selection.

FORTUNATELY, General Eisenhower has not fallen for any such booby trap. He is, likely, on the contrary, to say that he will support the nominees of any Republican primary or convention in any state of the Union where Republicans are nominated. To do otherwise is to set up the rule that the party nominee for President has a veto power on the kind of nominees selected by the states and that, if the whim suits him, he can be disloyal to such nominees and to the people who voted to choose the nominees.

Maybe what will be offered hereafter at both national conventions is a reciprocal "loyalty pledge" that not only pledges the delegates to support the nominee for President and Vice President, but also commits the presidential and vice presidential nominees to support the nominees for the Senate and House chosen in the primaries or by lawfully conducted state conventions.

The cases which have stirred up the issue are, of course, those of Senators McCarthy of Wisconsin and Jenner of Indiana. The latter is known to differ with General Eisenhower on international policies, and the former has long been the target of the "left wingers." They are really not so much incensed over the instances in which Senator McCarthy has misfired but are smarting under the criticism that has come to be so-called "liberals" because in their ranks have been found some proved Communists and traitors to the United States.

wingers" denounce Alger Hiss for lying in his testimony by claiming he was not a Communist, and almost never do they denounce men like Lee Pressman, who now has admitted in public testimony that in the many years he was guiding the CIO as its chief counsel he was a member of the Communist party and of a Communist cell.

None of the discovered cases seems to interest the "left wingers" or their publications very much, but, if they can destroy Senator McCarthy, they think they can next go after Senator McCarran, Democrat, and others who are not being intimidated by their tactics—men who are courageously exposing Communist activities among the "left wingers" in America.

Senator McCarthy deserves the severest condemnation for making unsupported charges against General Marshall's handling of international policies, but the late Senator LaFollette, before and during World War I, was just as bitter in his attacks on public men, including the President of the United States. Since he happened to be a "liberal," he was rarely denounced by his own kind and, even after his wild charges had been aired, he was nevertheless re-elected to the Senate by the people of Wisconsin and hailed subsequently even by President Truman as a great public servant.

THE RIGHT of a United States Senator to say what he pleases always has been a right which true liberals were ready virtually to lay down their lives to sustain, but today the "thought control" habit has become imbedded so deeply that the "left wingers" are openly asking the Republican nominee to go so far as to repudiate the selection by two sovereign states of their nominees for the Senate just because it is assumed that for the presidential nominee to support such primary selections of the states, is to endorse the views of those senators.

Presidents like Wilson and Roosevelt and Truman have tried to "purge" members of their own party by opposing them in the primaries. Almost without exception, the people have resented such interference, as they will resent it in Wisconsin and Indiana. But the real purpose undoubtedly is to harass Eisenhower.

Presumably the "left wingers" feel they have a right to perpetrate a bit of mischief against a candidate they are opposing anyway. They unquestionably have that right in politics, but full exposure of its implications may at least open the eyes of the people generally to the symptoms of totalitarianism which the younger members of the Democratic party are revealing in their concepts of party regularity, loyalty and discipline.

Smaller Baby Crop?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A shortage of babies is the latest bogey of business—not now certainly, but perhaps just around the corner.

Or, to put first things first, chances are the nation's marriage rate will turn downward over the next few years—a delayed-action bomb left over from the depression years when the baby crop fell off.

It's these babies of the thirties who will be entering the marriage market. And there are two million fewer persons today in the 17 to 26 year bracket than there were 10 years ago.

This eight per cent drop in the age group most susceptible to the wedding march could mean:

1. A drop in the demand for new homes.

2. A slackening in the demand for furniture, appliances and the various textiles that furnish homes.

3. And, in time, a temporary drop in the birth rate, which might affect the various industries that clothe, feed and care for babies.

It could also mean a temporary let-up—around 1960, say—in the pressure for more school rooms, which are now just beginning to bulge under the crush of the bumper crop of war babies, which will grow even greater in the next few years.

The over-all population, however, seems sure to continue to grow in the United States, as the life span is extended. And in time the 18½ million babies that have been born here in the last five years—breaking all U. S. records—will be reaching the marriage age.

So They Say

An armistice is in direct proportion to the amount of pressure put on the enemy.—U. S. Eighth Army Commander Gen. James Van Fleet.

We decided that two together can live cheaper than two apart, so we built a ranch house, figuring we might as well pay rent to ourselves.—76-year-old Fred Ellenburg after his marriage to 93-year-old Margaret Beebe.

Out of the crudeness of war, something can come of spiritual beauty, that is, the spirit of clean living and clean speech, which go hand in hand.—Army chaplain Lisle Bartholomew.

The short baby crop of the depression years is now reaching the colleges, and their business offices fear enrollments will be sharply down—with the draft also taking its toll. The colleges look for some help from the extension of the GI Bill of Rights to Korean war veterans.

Businessmen also note the shortage of secretarial, clerical and industrial apprentices because of the smaller number of youth in the age group where business customarily finds its recruits.

Because "the high point of new marriages has been passed for a time," says Ben H. Hazen, president of the United States Savings & Loan League, "1952 may be the last million housing unit year for a while."

Awaiting the Election Winds

Get Out The Vote!

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Each election, the politicians talk about getting out the vote. Yet, voting is in a decline that has been continuous since, at least, the Willkie campaign in 1940.

George E. Sokolsky that required a great stretch of the imagination.

In those years, enough voters boycotted the election to make their sentiment noticeable. For instance, the Democratic vote fell from 27,200,000 in 1940 to 24,100,000 in 1948—a loss of 3,100,000 while the population actually increased. The Republicans lost 400,000 votes in that period. But then, the Republican vote had been decreasing steadily since the 1936 campaign and probably reach rock bottom in 1948.

IT IS FOR THIS reason that President Truman is so angry that the Americans produced only a 51 per cent vote of those eligible. In a statement on the subject, he said:

"In the last general election in France, 75 per cent of the eligibles voted; in Italy, it was 89 per cent; in Canada, 75 per cent; in Japan, 71 per cent; in Israel, 72 per cent; in Sweden, 80 per cent; in England, 83 per cent, and in the last election in Belgium, 90 per cent of the voters went to the polls."

To pass this by with the casual comment that Americans have so degenerated that they love only fun and have lost all civic virtue is superficial. If the American people had something to vote for, something to vote against, real alternatives, they would vote.

At stake in this election in the year 1952 could be war or peace, the continuance of a capitalist economy, the permanent militarization of our country, the dominance of the nation by socialist pressure groups, etc. The voter has to believe that the differences between the parties are sharp and sincere.

The evil of "me-tooism" is apparent in the unwillingness of so many Americans to bother to go to the polls. "Me-tooism" represents not only negation but an unawareness of public dissent and discontent. It is a politician's technique to play safe. It violates the opposition and lessens the effectiveness of the two-party system which is designed to produce a debate.

NOT ONLY are the politicians to blame. The tendency of the era is to glorify and to debate the personalities. Undoubtedly, the newspapers and the radio have played an important role in the lessening of serious discussion and in the glorification of the individual characteristics. Frankly, it is of no more importance that Eisenhower can cook or that Stevenson has a problem in his family life than that somebody by the name of Zsa Zsa should be in a row with somebody by the name of Corinne over the measurements of that part of the human body which, except among some tropical tribes, is kept covered in public.

This playing up of the trivial and even vulgar tends to interest and amuse and divert attention from the issues. Also, it has driven out of political life many of our most substantial citizens who decline to submit to the indecencies of a campaign or to subject their families to a permanent avoidance of personal privacy.

I could not help thinking of that in relation to the non-political affairs of Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan, two minor characters whose private lives are really none of our business. At a time when we are actually losing a war in the Near East, to say nothing of the Far East, when Iran is in the same peril that China was in 1947; at a time when the American dollar has fallen to 97 cents in Canada—why give huge quantities of expensive space and time to their silly affairs?

Yet, the truth is that few personalities in public life stir the interest and imagination as much as these two do. Eisenhower or Stevenson may prove to be exciting, stimulating, even interesting, but nothing that has happened in this campaign indicates that they possess such characteristics.

They seem to be mild, gentle men who speak well and even charmingly but who will not arouse the nation to fervent action, to follow them not only as leaders but to accept their ideas as a cause. Only such leadership will get out the vote.

Grandma's Knee Jerks

By TRUMAN TWILL

On second thought, the man who makes his living by selling automobiles which he previously has bought at a price he can afford to pay was not trying to be insulting. He was being businesslike.

But watching your grandmother get tested for knee jerks, no matter how businesslike, is a grim experience.

Before this fellow had finished checking over the faithful retainer who has carried our family on her back for many a weary mile through snow, sleet rain and blazing heat, it was beginning to look like a job for the Humane Society.

Anyone guilty of making such a decrepit old hack struggle from A to B even by the shortest route obviously was a sadist. Anyone with the faintest idea of trading in such a helpless invalid on something a little better was the kind who would trade in a babe in arms on a case of booze.

Nothing could be plainer, when it was pointed out by an expert, than the fact this feeble old wretch was spavined beyond repair. "See!" cried the expert, shrilly, bouncing her vigorously up and down on her tired old feet "She has lost all her action!"

Her rheumy old eyes suddenly were older and rheumier than they ever had been before. Her skirts were hanging golly-woggle, her upholstering had slipped in the wrong places, causing bumps where she should have had curves, her gears were snaggle-toothed, the man said, and—look at that rear end.

For the first time the old jalopy's rear end was appraised objectively, with the counsel of a rear-end expert. Sure enough, it was out of plumb and could stand improvement, no doubt about that. "That will knock off another seventy-five dollars," the expert announced grimly.

It was $75 here and $75 there. By the time all the knock-offs were added up, they were equal to the sum of the parts which were still in working condition. In other words, one more bump in the road and old

Bolt Bucket would be a deficit. Someone would have to be paid to take her to the scrap works.

It is a shattering experience to look at the family taxmobile through the eyes of an expert. The old critter cannot be trusted to struggle home tonight. It's a miracle she made it into town today, the wretched shape she's in.

Dirty, disheveled, seedy, scabby, tottering, twittering, leprous old derelict, that's what she is. Whatever her day was, if any, she has seen it. They don't look that way any more, the man says.

So the only decent thing to do is drive her over the edge of a quarry and say nothing further about trading automobiles. The dealers wouldn't know what to do with her.

Fortunately, the owners know what to do with her, which is to fill her up when she's empty which is often and keep her rolling—a procedure which makes her happy despite what the expert said about the miracle of getting her off her death bed for his appraisal.

BIBLE QUOTATION

A prudent man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of fools proclaimeth foolishness.—Prov. 12:33.

The name "passion-flower" arose from the supposed resemblance of the corona to the crown of thorns, and of the other parts of the flower to the nails, or wounds, while the five sepals and five petals were taken to symbolize the ten Apostles (Peter, who denied, and Judas, who betrayed, being left out of the reckoning), according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

'Upper-Setter' Canine

A famous proprietor of a glamorous night club, now doing a video show on the premises, has a giveaway program in which a dog is won by the person sending in the best letter on why he wants a pooch. We are rushing off this epistle post haste:

Dear Sir:

Why do I want that dog? Because, first of all, I have never owned a night-club pooch. Once I got a dog from a saloon (Mooney & Kennedy's back home) and another time I was given a hound by a wayside tavern operator. But from a famous society niter? Never! The ordinary saloon dogs I had were pretty swell animals. They possessed deep affection, devotion and understanding and, since dogs have these great qualities in common, I guess a cafe society pup would be the same swell friend, although I can't help wondering if it would not consider itself too sophisticated to fetch my slippers, play dead, or go lie in a corner at a mere command. Sophistication can be pretty terrible in its effects on a human being and I wonder what it does to a dog.

WOULD A DOG with a cafe society background be too sophisticated, too afraid of being a shmoo, to show deep devotion and unending faith? Could I expect it to watch at the window through long dark hours for the one person in its affection, never giving up the vigil for the first whistle or first smile... never becoming bored by a concentrated devotion, regardless of what was going on all around it? Would he answer to a name like "Rags" or "Bimbo"? Would he be patient and tolerant in all company?

Would a safe society niter dog be much good as a watchdog? What I mean is wouldn't the pooch be so obsessed by his own charm and glamor that he would not mix it up with any low characters or run-of-the-mill intruders. If a cafe society dog should condescend to be a watchdog would he do it a second time if he got no press notices, no TV participation, no glorification and no perfume? And how would I feed a dog from a famous night club? Of course he would not settle for a bone or a few scraps from the kitchen table. Would he eat at all unless he got a prominent table and good lighting effects? I am just asking because, while I have had bird dogs, pointers and setters, I never have owned an "upper-setter."

So that is why I want a cafe society dog... I am very curious about the type and would like to study one. I think such a poodle would be okay and that not even safe society could do it any harm or change its nature much. Hoping this letter wins one, I am, yours truly,

—H. I. P.

Indians Down New York, 6-4; Gain American League Lead

Easter, Avila Mitchell Star

Cardinals Capture Seventh Straight

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cleveland Indians are in first place today, firmly convinced they will win the 1952 American League pennant.

The reason for their bright outlook on life stems from the fact they have conquered one of their chief stumbling blocks of the past—beating the New York Yankees in the Yankee Stadium.

The charge in some quarters that the Indians "choke up" when they tangle with the Yankees in the mammoth Bronx stadium was smashed to smithereens yesterday.

Cleveland turned back the Yankees 6-4, in the first game of a vital two-game series and took over first place from the defending champions by one percentage point. This is the first time that Cleveland has ruled the roost since June 7 and also the first time since June 14th that the Yankees are the pursuers instead of the pursued.

The Chicago White Sox, fresh from three straight triumphs over the Yankees, extended their winning streak to four games by beating the third place Boston Red Sox 4-1. In other American League games, the Philadelphia Athletics captured a two-night doubleheader from St. Louis, 5-2 and 9-0, and the Detroit Tigers defeated Washington, 2-0.

In the National League, the red hot St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Giants, 3-1, to stretch their winning streak to seven games. The victory also moved the Cards to within three percentage points of the second place Giants. Brooklyn's pace-setting Dodgers split a two-night doubleheader with Pittsburgh, winning the first game, 9-2, but losing the second, 3-2, while Cincinnati edged Philadelphia, 3-2, and Boston downed Chicago, 4-3.

Luke Easter, whose hitting the past few weeks has been instrumental in Cleveland's rise to the top, bluntly predicted before the game with the Yankees that the Indians would end New York's three-year reign as champions.

"We're going to win this pennant," the big first baseman said. "Furthermore, we're going to win it right here—in the Yankee Stadium."

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez was equally optimistic.

"There isn't a man on our club who doesn't believe that we're the best club in the league," Lopez said. "And why not? We are the best."

Easter, Dale Mitchell and Bobby Avila were the leading lights in the triumph that moved the Indians to the head of the class.

Big Luke drove in four runs on his 20th homer and a single. Mitchell cracked out five straight hits and Avila started the first triple play of the American League season.

The lone fly in the ointment came in the third inning when winning pitcher Mike Garcia twisted his right ankle while pitching to Hank Bauer. Garcia limped noticeably thereafter and finally was lifted in the sixth when the first three Yankees up reached base.

Avila pulled his fielding gem in the fifth. He speared Bauer's low liner, stepped on second to double up Billy Martin and fired to first to nail Reynolds.

Veteran Joe Dobson tamed the Red Sox on four singles in posting his 12th victory for Chicago. The White Sox scored all of their runs off rookie Ivan Delock.

Philadelphia's sweep of the Browns enabled the A's to tie the White Sox for fourth place, six games back of Cleveland. Rookie Charley Bishop, with help from Bob Hooper, gained his first victory in the opener. Bobby Shantz, the major's top winner, coasted to his 22nd triumph in the second game. Gus Zernial supplied the punch, driving in seven runs on a grand-slam homer and single. Shantz blanked the Browns on four hits.

Lefty Ted Gray bested Bob Porterfield in the pitching duel at Washington. Gray permitted six hits while Porterfield was tagged for 12. The defeat was Porterfield's 12th and his seventh by a shutout.

Stu Miller, sensational rookie righthander, turned in his third straight victory for St. Louis. Miller limited the Giants to three hits and struck out nine. Enos Slaughter singled home Sol H. Hemus with the winning run in the eighth inning. Stan Musial later scored an insurance run on a passed ball.

The Dodgers scored five runs in the seventh inning to win the opener at Pittsburgh. Relief ace Jo Black was credited with the victory, his 10th. Murry Dickson hung up his 12th triumph in the second game. Pittsburgh's first victory over the Dodgers at Forbes Field this year. Gus Bell singled home Dick Groat with the winning run in the ninth.

Willard Marshall's two-run homer in the fifth provided Cincinnati with its margin of victory over Philadelphia. Red starting pitcher Frank Hiller suffered a broken nose in the first inning

Salem Merchants Down Riverview Florists, 3-1 In County Playoff Tilt

The Salem Merchants today held a 1-0 edge in the final playoff for the Columbiana County League baseball championship.

Friday night at Centennial Park the Merchants rapped out six hits for three runs behind the four-hit pitching of Don Miller to chalk up their 25th victory of the season while downing the East Liverpool Riverview Florists, 3-1.

Scoring action started in the first inning for both teams, East Liverpool coming up with a single tally and Salem getting two markers in the bottom of the inning.

The Florist leadoff batter rapped out a base hit and advanced to third following an out when a ground ball to the shortstop was fielded but thrown bad to first. Miller then balked and the runner was allowed to score.

Salem tallied its two runs when Bob Miller led off with a walk. Pat Mancuso grounded to second baseman but in an attempt to force Miller at second the ball hit the latter and rolled into centerfield with Miller racing to third. Claire Weingart lofted a fly ball to center and Miller scored after the catch. Kirby Laughlin then rapped out a double and Mancuso scored, giving the Salem nine a 2-1 lead.

Two hits and a walk produced the other Salem run in the bottom of the third frame and ended the scoring for the remainder of the

Tribesmen Fail To Tighten Up

Players Hope For Second Win Today

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — "Well, we proved we can win the big one."

It was a terse, simple statement by Al Lopez, but it carried a lot of meaning for those who know the manager of the Cleveland Indians best.

If ever there was a game Lopez wanted to win the most, yesterday's clash with the New York Yankees was it. Every manager wants to win every game, especially the one that could put you in first place as yesterday's 6-4 triumph over the Yankees did for Cleveland.

But Lopez had much more of a reason for wanting to win the first of the two-game series. The usually genial skipper has made no secret of the fact he resents deeply the charge in some quarters that the Indians tighten up in the clutch—that they fall all over themselves when they play the big game.

Yesterday, his charges did more to disprove this theory than anything Lopez could have said—they refused to fold after the Yankees had all but erased an early 5-0 Cleveland lead.

You could sense the change in the Indians even before the game. The players, unlike previous appearances at Yankee Stadium, appeared relaxed and confident.

During other visits, Luke Easter, Larry Doby and Al Rosen acknowledged they always felt nervous here. Not scared, but nervous. Others admitted they "unconsciously tightened up."

But it was different this time. The first person encountered before the game was Easter, the big first baseman, who has started to slug the apple in his old style.

"We're going to win this pennant," he said. "I just know it."

It was Rosen who best put into words this new feeling among his mates.

"On the train en route here from Boston," the third baseman explained, "the boys were kidding and joking what they were going to do to those Yankees. They couldn't seem to wait to get a crack at those guys. And all they talked about was sweeping the series. No even-Stephen with them. Take two, they said."

"In other years, we came here hoping to get an even break, split a four-game series or take one out of three. Not now. They want to win 'em all and they feel they can do it. And don't be surprised if we do."

Red Caps Win Way To Playoffs

The Red Caps of the Girls Softball League gained the Shaughnessy playoffs last night when they tallied an 11-10 victory over Columbiana in a game which was completed following its termination Wednesday night because of darkness at Centennial Park.

The Red Caps tallied seven runs in the bottom of the sixth inning of the playoff game to lead by a single run, 10-9. Columbiana scored a run in the top of the seventh inning but the Red Caps came back to tally the winning marker in the bottom of the frame, winning the game and winning their way into the playoffs.

The Browns, who have undergone considerable altering since losing the National Football League championship last year, will bump up against several former teammates in the contest.

Chubby Grigg, the huge tackle traded to Green Bay last year after being bothered with knee trouble, is down to a mere 285 and appears in excellent shape.

Other former Brownies are tackle Joe Spencer, halfback Dom Moselle and linebacker Bill Schroll.

Lions Capture Playoff Tilt With Butler Grange

The Lions of the Class B League captured the title playoff game to decide first and second place last night at Centennial Park when they whipped Butler Grange, 4-3.

The two outfits deadlocked in the final standings of the teams and the playoff was necessary to decide opponents for the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The Grangers held a 3-0 lead when the Lions splurged for double-run innings in the fifth and seventh for the triumph.

Salem Gridders Prepare For 10-Game Schedule

Here's some of Coach Ben Barrett's Salem High School Quakers in action during the first four days of practice at Reilly Field. Contact work has been light for the Quakers since their opening practice Wednesday but Coach Barrett promises it will be rougher this week. Work has been spent with blocking and tackling for both linemen and backfield men, as shown in the picture above. Salem will open its ten-game season at Bellaire Sept. 13, play their second tilt at Ravenna Sept. 19 and open the home season at Reilly Stadium against Youngstown Chaney, a new opponent, Sept. 26.

Gil & Chuck, Leetonia Win Games; Amvets, Eljer Forfeit

Only one game was played in each Class AA and Class A Leagues last night at Kelley Park as two AA contests were forfeited in the scheduled four-game slate.

Amvets, leading outfit of the AA loop, forfeited their tilt to Demings and the Eljer Co. forfeited its game to Mullins in the other slated tilt.

In the two games played, Gil and Chuck tallied a lone run in the second inning and scored a 1-0 victory over Butler Grange in AA play while Leetonia won a 10-6 decision over Rufers in the Class A tilt.

Henry Miller led off the second inning with a single and scored on two infield outs and an error. Miller and Rod Cameron were the only G-C players to get hits off the pitching of Glenn Mercer while the Butler Grange nine managed seven bingles from Don Bell in the seven-inning contest.

The Grangers had three straight singles in the second frame but failed to get a run across the plate.

Leetonia garnered 11 hits from Mike Paster's twirling while Jack Altomare gave up ten hits in the final tilt of the evening between the Class A outfits.

Leetonia scored a run in the second inning and then three in the third, another single tally in the fourth, a pair in the fifth and Rufers also scored a marker in the second inning but fell behind in the third and never regained the lost ground, although they gave Leetonia a scare in the bottom of the fifth when they tallied five runs to make the score, 7-6. However, the three Leetonia runs in the seventh frame pushed them four runs in front.

HELD BY REDS SEVEN YEARS — In Berlin, Charles Noble, of Detroit, Mich., above, holds a letter written by the U. S. Consul in Berlin stating that he is a citizen of the U. S. Noble, who was born in Germany, said he and his son were arrested by the Russians in East Germany in 1945. He spent seven years in a Soviet concentration camp without a trial, while his son is still in Soviet hands and is believed to have been sent to Russia.

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some weeks ago A. P. Cooke, editor and publisher of the weekly Plant City (Fla.) Courier, learned some bad news about one of his readers.

The reader was himself. Should he print the news or keep silent? Cooke hesitated, then sat down and typed out his regular column, "Just Roaming."

"The word cancer is an ugly word," he began. "It is, to most folks, a cruel word, a despairing word because the very thought of it brings despair to anyone close to one so afflicted."

"I have just been told that I have a cancer in the tissues of the mouth, but I am not despairing. 'You see, medical people say that early detection is half the battle, and medical science has advanced rapidly in the treatment of this affliction.'"

Editor Cooke recalled wryly how often he, like his readers, had dropped a dime into the little boxes that appear on store counters during the American Cancer Society's annual drive — boxes that say: "Cancer Strikes ne of Every Five."

"I thought—if I ever gave it a thought—that I was one of the other four. But I was wrong."

"I have become a statistic... not altogether a pleasant thought..." Cooke then told his readers how a dentist had first noticed the suspicious lump in his mouth, how his doctor had diagnosed it as cancer, and of his intention to fly to New York to see the specialist his own doctor recommended.

"If I can, I will keep you informed... meanwhile, good luck and God be with you until we meet again."

On his arrival here Cooke met further bad news. The specialist recommended immediate surgery. Cooke had to make up his mind in 20 minutes whether to be operated on two days later—or wait another week. As he hesitated, the specialist said:

"When your garage is on fire, put it out before it burns up your car."

"Operate," said Cooke. The next day he was in the hospital, and the day after that he was operated on. He spent more than four hours under the knife, required three blood transfusions, but 12 days later he left the hospital.

Today editor Cooke has a happy ending story for his readers. The stitches are out of his jaw, he feels the surgeon is as optimistic over the results of the operation as he is, and he is on his way home.

Before he and his wife left, I visited with them on a park bench in Greenwich Village.

"I feel as if I had been through a tremendous nightmare," Cooke said. "The hospital code word for my type of operation is 'commando,' and I can truthfully say that after going through it you feel like you've been on a commando raid. But now I feel like I've got a life expectancy of 80."

He expressed gratitude that his own doctor had told him promptly the full truth of his ailment.

"It's a hell of a shock," he said. "But it was almost as hard for my doctor to tell me as it was for me to hear it. He hated to."

"But I'm glad he did tell me. Pussy-footing... bumfuzzling... doesn't do any good. It's like the specialist said about your garage. If it's on fire, you want to know it — and do something about it quick."

Cooke is also grateful for many newspaper editorials and letters from his readers praising him for the forthright article he wrote about his own cancer case.

"It was fine of you to boldly and frankly tell of your illness and warn others of the need for vigilance," wrote a Florida judge. "There has been too much 'hush hush'... articles like yours will help greatly in the early detection and treatment of this disease."

Atom Plant May Hurt Ohio's Chance For Aluminum Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Location of a big new atomic plant in southern Ohio may have damaged prospects for future expansion of the aluminum industry into the state.

Aluminum industry sources here said the security factor might discourage establishment of aluminum plants in the same general area as the billion-dollar U-235 plant along the Scioto River.

Both would be prime targets for enemy bombers, these sources pointed out, and if located in the same general area "would be like putting your eggs in one basket."

The Ohio River Valley in the past has been high on the list of areas considered by government officials assigned the job of "beefing up" this country's production of important aluminum.

More than a year ago—when Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson started looking around for new aluminum plant sites—various companies conducted surveys and studies of the Ohio River Valley.

However, they concluded that the cost of producing the enormous quantities of power necessary to operate aluminum production plants was too high in that area.

Long-range experiments aimed at converting coal into power cheaply are underway.

Meanwhile, the Aluminum Company of America (ALCOA) and the Kaiser Aluminum Co. went elsewhere.

Alcoa turned to Alaska, where there's an abundance of hydroelectric power, and Kaiser started building a plant near New Orleans, near the natural gas fields.

Then came the decision of AEC to put up its gigantic new plant in southern Ohio.

The power for that plant is to be supplied by a combine of 15 Ohio Valley power firms, which will build the necessary generating facilities.

Some in Washington wondered if the huge power facilities that will serve this plant might not produce some extra that could be diverted to aluminum production.

Defense Electric Power Administration (DEPA) officials said they doubted there would be any excess power left over after AEC's needs had been met.

The aluminum industry people said even if there were some excess from time to time, they could not depend on it. They explained that aluminum production requires a constant uninterrupted supply of power.

Another company interested in getting into aluminum production is Olin Industries, Inc.—a diversified firm that has widespread holdings in the small arms, explosives, metals and forest products fields.

Olin, it is understood, has given thought to locating in the Ohio Valley. An official hinted Olin still might consider that area, if the defense production administration allots it tonnage in a "third round" aluminum expansion, which some expect soon.

But the Olin official, like others in the industry, noted the AEC decision to build its U-235 plant in southern Ohio.

"There are some who think we had better scatter our vital plants," he said.

He also pointed out that the defense department has something to say about location of vital plants from a security standpoint.

The Olin official said the aluminum industry finds itself in a difficult position—with cheap power in the Pacific Northwest and its chief markets east of the Mississippi.

He admitted that Ohio has many advantages—an abundance of coal and a river artery over which bauxite—the raw material from which aluminum is extracted—can be hauled cheaply.

"If we get into the aluminum field," he said, "we'll go where the arithmetic takes us—where we can do it cheapest."

Earthquake

out the affected area estimated at 40 million dollars.

California Institute of Technology seismologists said the magnitude of the latest shock was 6, compared with 7.5 for the July temblor.

They placed the epicenter of yesterday's jolt only five to eight miles from here, along the Kern River fault. The July 21 quake centered at least 20 miles away, along the Bear Mountain fault.

The scientists said yesterday's temblor was a sort of "sympathetic reaction" to the July 21 shock, which was followed by numerous aftershocks, some of them damaging.

Of the 32 injured, only six were hospitalized after treatment.

Jim Day, managing editor of the Bakersfield Californian, said that when the quake hit with a great rumbling sound, automobiles "bounced up and down on the streets and people bounced as they walked along." It lasted just 10 seconds, he added.

"Automobile traffic stopped almost immediately," Day said. "People left their cars to stand in the street and look around them. I saw no hysteria, I heard no screams."

"People streamed from the sidewalks and from stores and other buildings and raced to the center of the street. There they stopped and looked around them and waited. Bricks were falling and broken glass was spraying from shattered store windows."

"A few seconds later, when the temblor had stopped and the rumbling was an echo, I saw injured people stagger into the street. By then the dust had begun to rise. It was a great pall of gray dust—in itself, a terrifying thing. This had been a bright, sunny day, and this dust rose and blotted out the sun and sky."

Gambling Tax Law Unsuccessful

Revenue Not High, Wagering Goes On

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue says the law Congress wrote last year to make gamblers pay taxes—a move designed both to put them out of business and to raise revenue—is just not working.

Not much money has been collected in taxes, and gambling is still widespread, it said this week in a monthly activity report reviewing what has happened between the time the law went into effect last November up to the end of fiscal year 1952 on June 30.

Must Buy $50 Stamp

The law provided that certain gamblers must register as such and buy a $50 occupation stamp each year, and then pay a tax amounting to 10 per cent of their total take.

The bureau said in its report of the eight-month period:

"When reviewed in the light of expectations of the legislators, the wagering tax provisions have failed to produce the desired results . . .

It appears that the tax yield in a full year of operations will be about eight million dollars, or 2 per cent of the original estimate of 400 millions. As a regulatory measure, the provision may prove equally non-effective."

Decline In Bookmaking

The report said there had been a "marked decline in large bookmaking operations, but considerable activity exists in the field of lottery, such as policy, numbers, baseball pools, etc., which is going untaxed. . . . In the absence of funds to investigate it is difficult to keep pace with violations."

The report also said a decision by the Pennsylvania District Court that the gambling tax law is unconstitutional has hampered prosecution, as cases are being held up pending a Supreme Court decision.

Statistics published with the report show that the state of Washington has more gamblers than any other state, or more honest ones, because it led in registrations. Louisiana led in payments of the tax on betting.

These states had highest gambler registrations: Washington, 4,359; Illinois, 3,234; Montana, 2,257; Utah, 1,617; Louisiana, 1,351; Indiana, 1,082 and Ohio with 959.

Gamblers in highly populated Eastern states, where gambling is supposed to be widespread, apparently paid no great attention to the law. New York reported only 189 registrations. New Jersey listed 79.

States which led in tax on betting:

Louisiana paid in $840,000; Illinois $827,000; Indiana $419,000; Ohio $305,000; and West Virginia, which registered only 494 gamblers paid in $273,000.

New York's gamblers paid only about $9,000. New Jersey's about $2,500. Pennsylvania, which registered 526 gamblers, paid in $53,400.

Warren Tourists, Guide Stranded On Island

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (AP)—A tourist couple from Ohio and a 16-year-old guide, dressed only in light summer clothing against lower than 50-degree temperatures, spent Thursday night on a small island after their outboard motor was swamped.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Cramer of Warren, O., and Dennis Corman of Parry Sound struggled ashore here yesterday as two planes and a dozen boats searched for them. The trio was fishing when choppy water flooded the motor and partly swamped the boat. Oars provided did not fit the locks and Cramer and Corman had to paddle to a nearby island where they spent the night in an empty cabin.

Later they dried the motor and returned to this Georgian Bay community.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Questions For The Doctor

Several medical problems are called to the doctor's attention today. They are:

Q—Can a shock harm you mentally and physically?—S. A. A.

A—It could, though most people seem to recover well from the "shocks" of life.

Q—Is it possible to have your left heel and elbow itch in cases of stomach trouble? Could this be caused by just eating too much, or too many rich food? Interested.

A—The connection between itching of the heel or elbow and stomach trouble is hard to figure out, and why it should be the left heel and not the right is even harder. Any connection seems extremely doubtful.

Q—Is there any truth in the belief of some of my friends that girls who have been through a serious illness sometimes mature earlier than others?—Mrs. E. C. A.

A—Not that I know of.

Q—Can you tell me if cancer of the throat is contagious? That is, can a husband or wife catch it from each other?

A—I thought by now everyone was familiar with the fact that cancer was not contagious, and cannot be caught by one person from another.

Q—I have a skin condition called vitiligo, and I am much worried about this. Is there a cure?—Mrs. F. K. N.

A—This condition is due to lack of pigment in the skin, but the cause is obscure and there is no treatment which restores the normal pigment. It is nothing to worry about except for appearance's sake.

Q—Since I stopped nursing my baby three years ago, one breast has been painful. Could it be possible that there is still milk in that breast after three years?—Mrs. D.

A—It is possible, though if there were milk still present, it could probably be expressed from the nipple. Some other cause for the painful breast is more likely. Q—If my child should get polio what shall I have to expect?—C. B. A—Recovery in 97 out of 100 cases; no after effects in 50 out of 100, slight after effects in 29 out of 100, and severe after effects in 18 out of 100. These are chances; what will happen to the individual child cannot be predicted.
